Before the First Lesson

The paid planning session (15minutes, 20€)

At TutorPortal.Pro, we believe every series of lessons should start with a pedagogical plan, a defined goal to reach and a way of measuring progress towards that goal.

Before any new series of lessons, we recommend that students book a structured, paid 15-minute planning session. Students pay 20€. You are compensated as for a normal session.

What it brings

- Understand student goals and level.
- Create a tailored roadmap.
- Build the trust that leads to long-term learning.
- If students decide not to continue, they still gain real value, and you are fairly paid.

“You teach better when you plan with purpose.” And that’s what this session enables.

Think of it as your runway to build a real, respected online teaching presence.

Your Commitment

When you join TutorPortal.Pro, we invite you to propose times on the school's platform when students can book lessons.

In exchange, we promote your teaching. We spend 15% of lesson fees on individual and collective promotion - Google, Facebook, other media.

The 5-5-5 Starting Arrangement

- You offer at least 5 hours / week for bookings on the school's platform - the more bookings the more you can offer.
- You propose the times to suit you and potential students.
- You maintain your offer during at least 5 months.
- You keep your availability visible on the platform always more than 5+ weeks ahead. You choose the days.
- You respect students' bookings (no cancellations or rescheduling unless unavoidable).
- You notify us well in advance if you take a break longer than 2 weeks.

Why it works

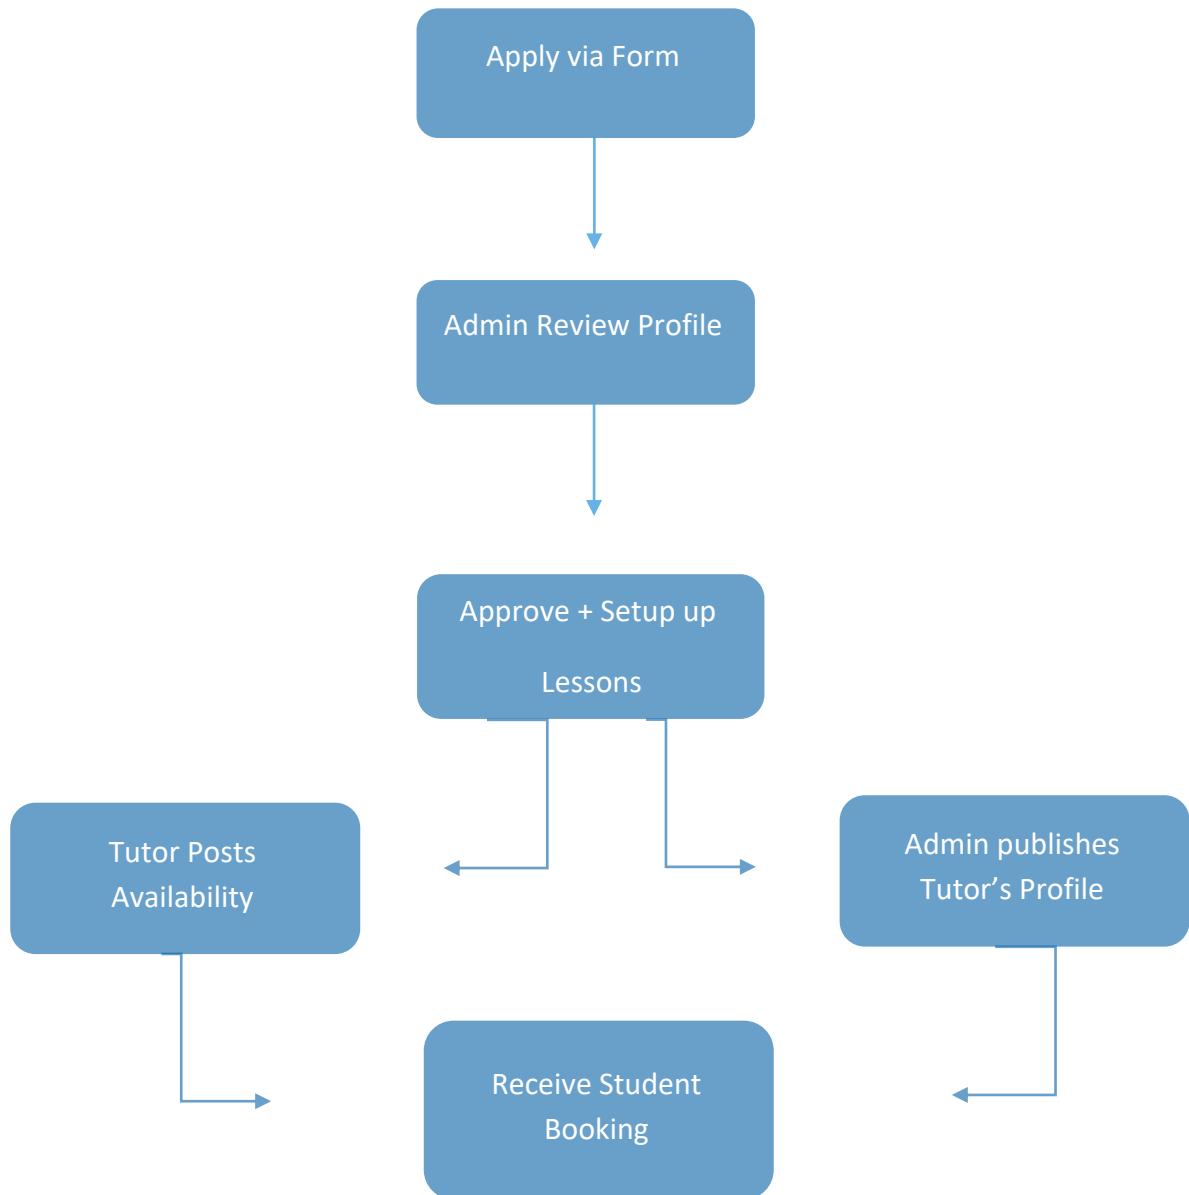

- Gives students confidence in booking your lessons
- Builds traction over time
- Allows us to promote you reliably
